

ABSTRACT

A method for receiving spectrum spreading signals with frequency shift correct in which the modulation period related to the Doppler effect is estimated by using a preamble and a correction signal is elaborated, the signal transmitting the information is then corrected by this correction signal.